Overview of Master's Program

North Carolina Central University's School of Education offers graduate programs leading to licensure in Educational Technology, School Administration, Middle Grades Education, Special Education, Communication Disorders and Counselor Education. In collaboration with the School of Library and Information Sciences, graduate candidates can earn a degree and licensure in School Media Coordinator. In collaboration with the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, graduate degrees with advanced licensure are offered in Family and Consumer Science and Physical Education.

Special Features of Master's Program

With the conceptual framework, "Preparing educators for diverse cultural contexts in the 21st Century," the School of Education graduate programs promote leadership, cultural responsiveness, reflection, and social advocacy. Regardless of the program area, faculty members are committed to and passionate about preparing professionals who provide quality service to all students. Essential to the accomplishment of this purpose is the continuing vision to support candidates in developing the attributes of independent learning, originality of thought, competence in research, and the application of critical thinking.

The mission of North Carolina Central University's School of Education is to prepare educational professionals to serve and inspire excellence in teaching, administration, counseling, communication, technology and other related services. Essential to our mission is the development of leaders who advocate for social justice and dedicate themselves to the well-being of a global community. The three goals of the School of Education are as follow:

1. The School of Education will produce highly skilled, culturally responsive, and globally aware professionals.
2. The School of Education will provide signature programs that are known locally, nationally, and internationally.
3. The School of Education will cultivate mutually beneficial, productive, collaborative partnerships in NCCU, the state, the nation, and around the globe.
