Aiming to Meet Food and Nutrition Needs of North Carolina Children and Families

Recognizing that access to nutritious food is foundational to health and well-being for children, families, and older adults, the North Carolina Department of Health and Human Services (NCDHHS) is committed to decreasing the number of North Carolinians who experience food insecurity. In support of that goal, NCDHHS recently released the NCDHHS State Action Plan for Nutrition Security, outlining an innovative, multi-pronged strategy that NCDHHS is taking to reduce food insecurity in North Carolina.

Recognizing Employees - Franklin County Schools

Franklin County Schools recently recognized nominees for 2023 Classified Employee of the Year. Liesa Seligman, School Nutrition Supervisor, was recognized as a nominee.

The overall winner for Classified Employee of the Year will be announced at this year's Honors Event, a.k.a "The Frankies," on June 9. Congratulations to Liesa for being nominated! Your work to support the Franklin County School Nutrition team and nourish students' minds, bodies, and souls each day is very much appreciated.

Got to Be NC - Wilson County Edition Farm to Table Celebration

Wilson County Schools held a "Got to Be NC" Farm to Table Celebration on May 10. Students, staff, and special guests enjoyed a lunch menu in the Rock Ridge Elementary school café featuring items grown and harvested from a variety of Wilson County Farms - Patty Melt Sandwich (Beef from Sullivan Farms, Lucama), Baked Sweet Potatoes with Cinnamon and Sugar (Sullivan Farms & Fresh Pik Produce, Wilson), Fresh Veggie Cup: Cucumbers, Grape Tomatoes, Yellow Squash (Glover Farms, Bailey), and Strawberries (Fresh Pik, Wilson). The lunch menu was served district wide. Additional activities were held throughout the week to educate students about the importance of supporting local agriculture and the vital role of farms in food production.

"Kids do not a lot of times know where their food comes from, so we are hoping that through events like this, showcasing this, that kids can correlate where their foods are coming from," said Jamie Narron, Executive Director of School Nutrition for Wilson County Schools. "This is how you grow a strawberry and this is how a sweet potato is grown,' and so then, they can take this idea and take it back to their home and help teach healthy habits to the families." Read more.

Celebrating Farm-to-School Week in Pamlico County Schools

Pamlico County Schools sourced locally grown produce and proteins from North Carolina farmers, including McCoy Cattle Farms, Tidewater Grain Company, Brasstown Beef, Bridgeton Poultry, Cattle Farms, R&H Produce, and many others to celebrate its second Farm-to-School Week, May 8-12. The week was organized by the Child Nutrition Department in collaboration with Pamlico Farm Bureau, Pamlico County Middle School Future Farmers of America, Small Grain Association, The Dairy Alliance and the N.C. Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services (NCDA&CS).

In addition to eating locally grown lunches in their school cafes, students were able to experience and participate in educational activities related to agriculture:

- Monday, May 8 – Agriculture Fair at Pamlico County Middle School
Students from Pamlico County Middle School’s Future Farmers of America (FFA) and Ms. Jennifer Hacker presented to the middle school students about a piece of farm equipment and explained how it is used on a farm. Each classroom was shown videos about North Carolina agriculture.
- Tuesday, May 9 - Farm Expo Day at Pamlico County Primary School
Farmers and agricultural business set up educational booths to showcase the following local products: sweetpotatoes, strawberries, soybeans, corn, beef, rice, small grains, and dairy. A special luncheon was held with farmers, the Pamlico County School Board, Superintendent Lisa Jackson, NCDA&CS, and other invited guests. The Pamlico County High School’s culinary class assisted with the luncheon.
- Friday, May 12 – Door Decorating Contest at Fred A. Anderson Elementary School
Each class participated in a door decorating competition to showcase “What Agriculture looks like in Pamlico County?”. Pamlico County High School’s FFA officers were the judges. Throughout the day, each class rotated outside to learn about a piece of farm equipment.

Bring Your Legislator to School Day – May 15

N.C. General Assembly (NCGA) legislators have been invited to visit schools in their district on May 15 for the inaugural “Bring Your Legislator to School Day”. The event is a joint effort of the N.C. Regional Teachers of the Year (TOYs), Regional Principals of the Year (POYs), and the Public School Forum of North Carolina. The initiative has bipartisan support with legislative co-sponsors, Sen. Amy Gale, Sen. Rachel Hunt, Sen. Graig Meyer, Rep. Vernatta Alston, Rep. Allen Buansi, Rep. Ashton Clemmons, Rep. Kevin Crutchfield, Rep. Zack Hawkins, and Rep. John Torbett.

All NCGA legislators received an invitation and have been asked to RSVP. The N.C. TOYs and POYs along with the Public School Forum of North Carolina will work to pair the legislators with a public school unit in their district and notify superintendents. During their school visit, legislators are encouraged to engage in a walk through of schools with the principal, superintendent, and student ambassadors, observe classroom instruction, participate in individual focus groups/roundtable discussions with teachers, students, and families, enjoy a meal in a school café, and ride a bus with students. This is a wonderful opportunity for legislators to learn more about the successes, challenges, and needs of students, school staff, and families. Be ready to showcase your School Nutrition Programs!

Learn About an Economic Impact Assessment of Public Incentives to Support Farm to School Food Purchases – 5/18, 1 pm ET

Farm to school projects have widely been supported by policymakers with funding provided at state and federal levels. Still, many of the economic outcomes of this inflow of policy and funding remain unclear. In 2018, New York State announced the 30% N.Y. Initiative that substantially increases school lunch reimbursements if School Food Authorities (SFAs) purchase at least 30% of their lunch ingredients as New York food products. With detailed food purchasing data from Buffalo Public Schools, the second-largest school district in the state, and the largest SFA to qualify for enhanced reimbursement, researchers estimated the gross and net economic impacts of the policy through a customized input-output model. Join this webinar to hear results from the study, which was led by Professor Todd Schmit, Cornell Dyson School of Applied Economics and Management, and supported by Shayna Krasnoff, MS, '22, and Cheryl Bilinski, Cornell Cooperative Extension Harvest New York.
